About us

We support leading companies of the financial services industry across Germany.

Our duty is to assist them in the areas of process, organization and technology. Additionally we develop individual software solutions.

FSP stands for Financial Services Partner as well as Fastidious Software Products.

Our service areas are divided into four divisions:

- Software Development
- IT Consulting
- Business Consulting
- Project Management

We support both, the professional as well as the technical task. Technology is always a tool for the implementation of the business requirements.

The significant difference to our competitiors is our ability to develop and realize the solutions together with our customers. This close cooperation is part of our successful projects.

Business Consulting

We know that the sole use of assistive technology in general means no cost savings.

Only the meaningful holistic view of humans, organization and technology enables continious optimization, which is represented by your employees.

Therefore, our following principles are particularly important:

- Understand the business objectives
- Focus on customer needs and value
- Thinking in processes and business transactions
- Avoidance of media breaks
- Considering the technology as a supporting tool (e.g. document management, workflow and Internet)

These principles form the base to support you successfully in our business areas.

- Process Optimization / Technical Concepts
- Document & Workflow Management
- Development of Migration Concepts
- Creation of Roles & Rights Concepts
- Project Management / Test Management

IT-Consulting & Development

Almost any change of your business – whether as a result of mergers or acquisitions, by restructuring your business to optimize existing processes or by introducing new products – requires adapting your processes and IT systems necessary.

Over the years, often a complex IT architecture grew, which includes a variety of different technologies. Today it is constantly supplemented with new technologies.

Our employees of the department „IT Consulting & Development" are specialized in linking technologies, introduce new ones, integrate and replace existing.

Our experts will work to your needs tailored solutions that also do not have inventory tomorrow and always bring significant cost savings.
